

With Love from Bea.....

It all started with a blind date arranged by my sister's mother in law who shopped in Nat's "Green Store". We met in January 1951 and married in December 1951. I guess I could say, and the rest is history...

I learned so much from Nat's parents, who were wonderful people. They imbued their children with compassion, honesty and charity. I also learned so much from them, having been brought up in a non-observant family. As a result, Nat and I did all that we could to pass these qualities on to all of our children and grandchildren. We have been a team since we first began our lives together. We love each other and we love our lives together and, of course we love our shul. We are so honored and grateful for the privilege of being a part of such a vibrant, caring community. Our family thanks all of you for this great honor.
